

Foundational Research of the Frame and Design of Cultural Relic's Database

In this article , the author progressively analyses the characteristic of cultural relic, the characteristic of cultural relic data, cultural relic database management and application request, elaborates the characteristic of cultural relic data and the design idea of cultural relic database, then summaries the technology design connotation of cultural relic database. According to the informationization development plan and information technology characteristic, the author tries to discuss in the mentality, the method and the content of the database construction technology in cultural relic museum domain.

Key words: cultural relic, data, database, data management, plan, design

Mr. Zhu Kongqiang